GARFIELD'S ACCEPTANCE.

Formal Letter to the Chairman of the Committee.

The Platform Cordially Indorsed-Special Reference to Some of the Principal Topics-Purity of Elections and General Education a Necessity-The Finances and Chinese Question.

General Garfield's Letter of Acceptance. MENTOR, OHIO, July 12.-General Garfield has forwarded to Senator Hoar of Massachusetts the following letter of acceptance of the nomination tendered him by the republican national convention: MENTOR, OHIO, July 10, 1890. DEAR SIR: On the evening of the 8th of June last I had the honor to receive from you in the presence of the committee of which you were chairman the official aunonucement that the republican national convention at Chicago the republican national convention at Chicago had that day nominated me for their candidate for president of the United States. I necept the nomination with gratitude for the grees, has sent to China a commission of discussions. accept the nomination with gratitude for the confidence it implies and with a deep sense of the responsibilities it imposes. I cordially indorse the principles set forth in the platform adopted by the convention. On nearly all the subjects of which it treats my opinions are on record among the published proceedings of congress. I venture, however, to make special mention of some of the principal topics which are likely to become subjects of discussion, without reviewing the controversies which have been settled during the last twenty years and with no purpose or wish to rovive the principal topics. It is confidently believed that these diplomatic negotiations will be successful without the loss of commercial intercourse between the two powers, which promises a great increase of reciprocal trade and the chargement of our markets.

Should these efforts fall it will be the duty of congress to mitigate the evils already felt and prevent their increase by such restrictions are without violence or injustice, will place which have been settled during the last twenty years and with no purpose or wish to revive the passions of the late war. It should be said that while republicans fully recognize and will strenuously defend all the rights reserved to the states, they reject the perulcious dectrine of state supremacy which so long orippled the functions of the national government, and at one time brought the union very near to destruction. They insist that the United State is a nation with ample power of self-preservation; that its constitution and laws, made in pursuance thereof, are the supreme law of the land; that the right of the nation to determine the method by which its own legislature shall be created cannot be surrendered without shroughting one of the fundamental powers of the government; that the national laws relating to the election of representatives in concress shall neither be violated nor concress shall reconcress about 1 this power of self-preservation; that the cannot be surrendered without shroughting one of the fundamental powers of the government; that the national laws relating to the election of representatives in concress shall neither be violated nor congress to mitigate the evils already felt and prevent their increase by such restrictions as, without violence or legislate, will place upon a sure foundation the peace of our communities and the freedom and the of the government; that the national laws re-lating to the election of representatives in congress shall neither be violated nor evaded; that every elector shall be per-mitted freely and without intimidation to cast his lawful ballot at such election and have it honestly counted, and that the potency of his vote shall not be destroyed by the fraudulent vote of any other person. The best thoughts and energies of our people should be directed to those great questions of a national well-being in which all have a common that the state of the st tional well-being in which all have a common interest. Such efforts will soonest restore perfect peace to those who were lately in arms against each other, for justice and good will will outlast passion; but it is certain the wounds of the war cannot be completely healed, and the spirit of brotherhood cannot fully pervade the whole country until every citizen, rich or poor, white or black, is secure in the free and equal enjoyment of every civil and political right guaranteed by the constitution and laws. Wherever the enjoyment of this is not secured discontent will prevail. Immigration will cense and the social and industrial forces will cention to be disturbed by the migration of laborers and the consequent diminution of reosperity. The national governments should exercise all its constitutional authority to put an end to these evils, for all the people to put an and to these evils, for all the people and all the states are members of one body, and no member can suffer without injury to all.

ive and wholesome rostraint upon the party in power. Without such restraint party rule be-comes tyrannical and corrupt. The prespecity which is made possible in the south by its great advantages of soil and elimate wil great advantages of son and official will never be realized until every voter can freely and safely support any party he pleases. Next in importance to freedom and justice is popu-lar education, without which neither justice nor freedom can be permanently main-tained. Its interests are intrusted to the states and the voluntary action voluntary action atover help the expressed that little is needed in the way of additional statement. The public debt is now did not come into the city until March last, so well secured and the rate of annual interest has been so reduced by refunding, that rigid displayed among the capitot police some economy in expenditures and the faithful application of our surplus revenues to the payment of the principal of the debt will gradument of the principal of the debt will gradument of the principal of the debt will gradument of the principal of the debt will gradument. ally but certainly free the people from its burdens and close with honor the financial chapter of the war. At the same time the government can provide for all its ordinary expenditures and discharge its sacred obligations to the soldier of the union and who fell in its defense. The resumption of specie payments, which the republican party so courageously and successfully accomplished, has removed from the field of controversy many questions that long and seriously disturbed the credit of the government and the business of the country. Our paper currency is now as national as the flag, and resumption has not only made it everywhere equal to coin, but has brought into use our store of gold and silver. The erculating medium is more shundant than ever before, and we need only to maintain the equality of all our dollars to insure to labor and capital a measure of value from the use of which no one can suffer loss, a policy should be pursued which will bring revenues to the treasury and will enable and earlier that success to the treasury and will enable the labor and expital employed in our great industries to complete fairly in cur own mark to the with the labor and expital employed in our great industries to complete fairly in cur own mark to will the bound and acquitate for the beautiful states to the treasury and will enable endeavour to the treasury and will enable the labor and expital employed in our great industries to complete fairly in cur own mark to will the bound and expital employed in our great industries to complete fairly in cur own mark to will the bound and expital employed in our great industries to complete fairly in cur own mark to will the bound and expital employed in a current of the character that Secretary Kenady to the face and senate, it still ask why a discounted to the character that Secretary kenady is the Mexican possion that they are not for the whole world, and it is our giory that the American Laborare kene for the character that Secretary kenady is the foreign proceed to the proceedings of the end of the particular that Secretary kenady is the proceeding of the surface and control to other and expital of foreign proceeding the proceeding of the surface and senate, is still ask why a discount of the proceeding of the surface and natural resources, possess the requisits skill at any time to clothe, arm and equip themselves for war, and in time of peace to produce all the necessary implements of labor. It was the manifest intention of the founders of the government to provide for the common de-tense not by standing mysics along but by fouse, not by standing armics alone, but by raising among the people a greater army of artisms whose intelligence and skill should powerfully contribute to the safety and glory the nation. Portunately for the interest commerce, there is no longer any formid able opposition to appropriations for the im-provement of our barbors and great navigable rivers, provided that the ex-penditures for that purpose are strictly limited to works of national importance.

The Mississippi river with disgreat tributaries, is of such with importance to so many millions of people that the asfety of its navigation re-

The wis-dom of congress should be invoked to device some plan by which that great river shall cease to be a terror to those who dwell upon its case to do a terror to those who await upon its backs and by which its shipping may safely carry the industrial products of twenty-five millions of people. The interests of agricul-ture, which is the basis of all our material prospecity and in which seven-twelfths of our population are engaged, as well as the interests of manufacturers and commerce, demand that the facilities for cheap transportation shall be increased by the use of all our great water courses. The material interests of this country, the traditions of its setlement and the sentiment of our people have led the government to offer the widest hospitality to emigrants who seek our shores for new and happier homes, willing to share the burdens as well as the benefits of our society, and intending that their posterity shall become an undistinguishable part of our people. come an undistinguishable part of our popula-tion. The recent movement of the Chinese to our Pacific coast partakes but little of the qualities of such an emigration, either in its purposes or its results. It is too much like an importation to be welcomed without re-introduced among us under the guise of immi

but little ground of complaint. It may not be wise to make similar regulations by law for the civil zervice, but without invading the authority or necessary descretion of the executive, congress should devise a method that will determine the tenure of office and greatly reduce the uncertainty which makes that service so insecure and unsatisfactory. Without depriving any officer of his rights as a citizen the government should require him to discharge all his official duties with intelligence, efficiency and faithfulness.

To select wisely from our vast population those who are best fitted for the many offices to be filled, requires an acquaintance far beyond the range of any one man. The executive should, therefore, seek and receive the information and assistance of these whose knowledge of the communities in which the duties are to be performed best qualifies them to sid in making the wisest choice.

The doctrines announced by the Chicago convention are not the temporary devices of a party to attract votes and carry an election. They are daliberate convictions resultive the day and committed to party to attract votes and carry an election.

purty to attract votes and carry an election. They are deliberate convictions resulting from a careful study of the spirit of our institotions, the events of our history and the best impulses of our people. In my judgment these principles should control the legislation and administration of the government. In and all the states are members of one body, and no member can suffer without injury to all. The most serious cylls which now afflict the south arise from the fact that there is not such freedom and teleration of political opinion that the minority party can exercise an effective and wholesome restraint upon the party in the wisdom of congress, the intelligence and patriotism of the people and the favor of God. With great respect, I am very truly yours,

To Hon, GEORGE F. HOAR, Chairman of the Committee.

An Explanation Wanted. "Captain" D. M. Hamlin, who when last heard from in the army was being mustered out as a sergeant, has pulled the wool over a of the poople. Whatever help the democratic editor, and induced him to say nation can justly afford should be generously "It is charged that he was on the capitol police." nstion can justly afford should be generously given to aid the states in supporting common schools, but it would be unjust to our people and dangerous to our institutions to apply any portion of the revenues of the nation or of the states to the support of sectarian schools. The separation of the church and the state in everything relating to taxation should be absolute. On the subject of national finances, my views have been so frequently and fully expressed that little is needed in the way of additional statement. The public debt is now so well secured and the rate of annual interest how course his name to be so conspicuously
